The official opening of the beautiful new Christ Church (Anglican) at Grande Prairie will take place at a special service to be held on Wednesday evening, September 27, at 7 o'clock.

This beautiful new church is a gift to the parish of Grande Prairie and is the work of a beautiful building which is of old English design, the exterior finished in a beam stucco effect. The sanctuary is paneled in B.C. fir, and the furnishings of the sanctuary are a gift of a former Bishop of the diocese of the Peace.

Dale Jones, and other clergy of the diocese.

They Go

They go—our lads—the lads we love and cherish, sure, sent to school. Just lads—evolved ere right and freedom perished. Even schoolboys must accept a sterner rule.

They go—our lads—the town turns out to cheer them. And wave and wish them luck as they enjoin; Our lads—we gather closer to be near them. A quick good-bye, stiff-lipped, for tears are vain.

They go—our lads—upon a manly venture; We'll smile as if they're going again to school. Just lads—Then give them strength for their adventure. Not tears. For us, as them, the sterner rule.

Miss Rose Broadway has returned to Grande Prairie to attend school.

A couple of outfits have started threshing in this district and the yield has been very good.

We hope the school board will soon secure a teacher, as our school has not yet started.

Mr. W. W. Broadway is harvesting his new combine. Dawson Creek, with his new combine.

It is still showering. We hope it will soon end, as everyone wants to thresh and some still have a few acres of crop to cut.

HINTON TRAIL

HINTON TRAIL, Sept. 9.—School has commenced for the fall term. A. L. Cobby again in charge of our school.

With the cutting of late grain just about wound up, the hum of the threshing machine sounds good to the ear. If the weatherman will only behave for a couple of weeks, the grain should all be in the granaries by that time.

Wedding bells are ringing in the district.

There has been an abundant crop of blueberries. Cranberries are not so plentiful.

GRAMMAR WAS CORRECT
Judge N. J. Bonell's grammar was all right when he said Jim would have to serve 90 days in jail. Jim is Yee Yee Him, a dishwasher in Chicago. Him's (that's correct, too) employer, Benjamin Joe, charged him with wrongfully buying liquor and charging it to the restaurant where Jim worked.

The unsuccessful Langley flying machine, built before the flight of the Wright brothers, was taken from its niche in the Smithsonian Institute years later and, with a few alterations, made to fly.

THE CHILDREN ARE GONE AND LONDON'S PARKS ARE DESOLATE
A short time ago this park rang with children's laughter and everywhere youngsters were in evidence playing under the mighty trees and on the grass. Today these parks present a scene of desolation—the children have gone from the cities—and only the occasional elderly person sits under the trees or walks across the playing fields.

BANK CLOSES DOORS BECAUSE MONEY LAY IDLE IN VAULTS

Because no one wants to borrow money, the savings bank at Booneville, Iowa, has closed its doors. The bank has $267,000 in deposits, is solvent, but it can't make any money paying out 2½ per cent interest to depositors and letting the cash lie idle in its vaults. In a letter to the depositors announcing the closing, the bank, in business for 33 years, said: "The principal reason for quitting is that we do not know what to do with your money."

WRITER DISCOVERS REASON FOR FAMILIAR EXPRESSION

A fellow worker of mine—to wit, a plumber, for plumbers and journalists have much in common—has written to correct a technical error in something I wrote and has thereby brought me information that I previously lacked. He says that when I used the expression, "not worth a tinker's dam," I was wrong. Indeed, I have often wondered why a tinker's curse should be more useless than those of others.

The real fact is that when a plumber, in pursuit of his mystic, desires to flood a certain place with a coat of solder, he erects a wall of dough, or clay, around it and then pours his metal. The material in the wall then being of no further use, it is thrown away. Thus we have "a tinker's dam" — not damn.

Another popular saying whose origin eluded me till recently is that one about "getting his goat." It appears that it was once the custom to keep a goat in stables to soothe the horses. A race horse owner who expected to win the Metropolitan Handicap raced into a New York bar on the evening of the race, shouting "I've got my goat!" They had indeed stolen the goat and the horse plined, became restive, and lost the race. —J.B. in Vancouver Province.

NOT SO VERY GOOD

Story about Herr Goebels and Schooboy Worth Repeating. Goebels was paying a visit to a public school in order to see how his propaganda was affecting the youth of the country. He asked a small boy to quote from memory some patriotic greeting. The child replied: "Heil Hitler." "Quite right," said Herr Goebels, "but there are other slogans. A second boy piped up: "Deutschland über Alles." "Fine, fine," said Goebels, "but

PLAIDS AND CONDUROVS POPULAR FOR CAMPUS WEAR
Colorful plaids, brilliant fiery red of winter flannels, and colorful, vivid woolen dresses worn with fur jackets and black and white for evening wear—these will be popular on the campus this fall. The slacks suit shown above is a crash-resistant linen and designed for study. The slacks are blue and the blouse a brilliant Roman stripe. Every wardrobe should include a fur coat. One of the least expensive, but smart, is the gray kidskin like the one in the photo. It has a reaser-like front and fits new fall trends of gray with bright colors. A perennial favorite on the campus is the sweater worn with pearls. The ensemble features short sleeves, crew neck and three-strand pearls.

NO KOALA BEAR SKINS ARE BEING EXPORTED

The Australian Press Union says publicly given in the United States to Australia's lovable native bear, the koala, caused a demand for coats made from their skins and this led to reports that koala were being illegally killed here and their skins exported.

The Chief Secretary (Mr. Bailey) caused inquiries to be made and these revealed that the skins being used were exported in 1927 when, during an open season in Queensland, 600,000 were obtained by trappers. Since then the koala has been more rigidly protected.

NO MORE BLACKBOARDS

Days of the schoolroom blackboard in Sudbury, Ontario, may be numbered. When school opened pupils could write on yellow glass with purple chalk in the King George Public School, most recent addition to Sudbury's school buildings. Blackboards are said to absorb too much light, and all boards will be changed if the experiment proves successful.

HINTS ON FISH COOKERY

If you have never done much fish buying or cooking, you will need a few pointers to enable you to get the best for your money. For those who are old hands at this department of household management, a brief review of the points to remember when purchasing fresh fish and the season when it is abundant and moderately priced.

The housewife is wise to find out what varieties of fish her locality offers when purchasing fresh fish and the season when it is abundant and moderately priced. In selecting fresh fish, look for smooth moist skin, firm flesh, fresh odor, full bright eyes and gills, and firm fins and tail.

On pound of fish fillets usually serves three persons, but when buying whole fish with head and tail, count on about half a pound for each portion. Keep the fish in a tightly-covered pail on ice or in a cold refrigerator. If it cannot be kept cold, cook at once and reheat later.

Fish has a high nutritive value and is easily digested. There is little waste in preparing it and takes only a few minutes to cook, which, added up, makes fresh fish a delicious as well as economical dish.

Baked Whole Fish.
Fish weighing 3 to 6 pounds (salmon mackerel or whitefish).
Oil or melted fat.
Finely sifted bread crumbs.

Prepare the fish by cutting off head, tail and fins, then splitting it down at the backbone like a tinnard huddle so that it will lie flat open. Oil a baking pan and place fish in it, skin side down. Sprinkle well with salt, then strew all over with finely sifted bread crumbs. Place in a hot oven of 300 degrees. Add no water. Bake quickly until well browned, allowing about ten minutes per inch thickness of fish. The heat may be reduced for the larger fish towards the end of cooking time. Colorfully fried onions, if liked, may be strewn over the fish before the blanket of bread crumbs.

Adolf Hitler was once a friend of the masses; so was Benito Mussolini. But they were and still revolutionaries beside the "chill sweeper" of the Red revolution, the tough from the Caucasus, Joseph Stalin. Once Joe Stalin was proud of his exploits, proud of the way he started into Armenian stores, stole what he wanted, fired some shots and ran leaving much blood behind him; proud of having the guts to toss bombs from a lamp-post at fully armed Cossacks; proud of the hold-ups on mountain roads; proud of inflaming the doubters he had his picture painted doing it; proud of the mail train robbery near Rostov, when he backed his way through the side of the mail car and had to jump for it with the train still in motion. Joe Stalin could take it. When his hovelmates accidentally set fire to some stolen stuff he had hid in the stove, he put a hand in the flames, salvaged only one 500-ruble note. When he was captured and was told to run a gauntlet of soldiers swinging riding crops, he walked through, head high, holding a book under his arm. Last week this man was trading in empires.—Time.

FAMOUS TEXAS POLICE ARE SEEN IN "RENEGADE RANGER"

Among the oldest as well as most picturesque of state law enforcement bodies are the Texas Rangers, whose exploits have been the subject of many a story. George O'Brien's newest RKO Radio film, "The Renegade Ranger," follows the Civil War organized bands of land and cattle thieves grew up in the Texas Panhandle and areas of the Lone Star state, and by 1870 it began to appear as though they would control the state and destinies of the whole Southwest.

To combat these bands, a group of public-spirited citizens and old-time settlers formed the Rangers in 1874 and they have been active ever since, bringing law and order to the state in the same fashion that the Mounties have done in Canada. After a series of sharp contacts with the lawless cattle bands for good. Meanwhile the daring and tenacity of these men became traditions in the hearts of the law-abiding.

The plot of "The Renegade Ranger" deals with the pursuit of a fugitive Mexican girl, accused of killing a ranchman, by a Ranger officer who falls in love with her and becomes convinced of her innocence. The resulting complications are said to make the picture one of the season's most exciting offerings.

Rita Hayworth has the feminine lead, and the cast includes Tim Holt, Ray Whitley, William Royle, Charles Stevens, Cecilia Callejo, Neil Hart and Lucio Villagas.

FAMILY'S BAD BOY IS HERE FOR GOOD

Three months ago Marvin Stephens Stephens was hawking newspapers at a Los Angeles street corner, aiding in the support of his family and putting himself through high school. He was spotted by Associate Producer Max Golden and given a small part in a Jones Family picture, "Borrowing Trouble," for 20th Century-Fox, then assigned to a part with Jane Withers in "Checkers."

As a reward for fine work, Marvin recently was given a term contract by the studio and assigned to continue in further Jones Family films, the latest of which is "Love On A Budget."

At the Capitol Theatre next week with "The Renegade Ranger" in a double feature program, "Love On A Budget" presents Jed Prouty, Shirley Deane, Spring Byington, Russell Gleason, Kenneth Howell, George Ernest, June Carlson, Florence Roberts and Billy Mahan in their usual family roles, with Alan Dinehart, Dixie Dunbar and Marvin Stephens also featured.
